

Fulton County Elementary/Middle School hires Michael Cole as new assistant principal as staffing changes are made

Charlotte Smith
Editor

“We are excited to have Michael Cole on board as our new assistant principal,” stated Fulton County Elementary School Principal Julie Jackson. Jackson shared this good news with the school board during the June 28 meeting. Cole was hired to fill the vacant position after Pa’Trice Chambers was hired as Instructional Supervisor/District Wide Programs.

Non-tenured teachers returning after receiving notification of renewal limited contracts for 2012/2013 include Deatrik Kinney, Anthony Davison, Mitchell Williamson, Lacey Clinton, Christa Taylor, Mathew Dillon, Kristin Jones, James Jones, Justin Suttles and Audrey Bivens. Bivens notified Superintendent Dennis Bledsoe that she will not be returning in August because her husband has accepted a position in Georgia.

Additional personnel actions include the employment of the following:

- Jamie Adams as Math Specialist for Fulton County High School (Grant Funded)
- Susan Overby as Secondary English Teacher
- Katherine Drennon as Chemistry/Biology Teacher
- Bryan Warner as Secondary

Science Teacher (a plus to his employment is an Art background)

- Jason Gibbs as middle school math/science teacher
- Jimmy Jones as Head Baseball Coach
- Jeff Jones as Assistant Baseball Coach
- Leonard Smith, Sr., as Head Girl’s Basketball Coach

Resignations were accepted from Patricia Bing (home/hospital teacher) and Wayne Benningfield.

After receiving good news from Supt. Bledsoe, school board members listened attentively to Dianne Owen, program director for the Four Rivers Scholarship Program. (See related story on page 3.)

Two items were discussed at great length by the board including whether or not to accept a recommendation from the high school site-based decision making (SBDM) council to change the attendance requirement from 90% to 95%. Currently students can miss up to 18 excused and unexcused days during each of their four years of high school and still participate in senior activities, such as senior prom, project graduation and walking during graduation exercises. Board member Wiley Gannon made a motion to implement the 95% during the 2012/2013 school year and make it not cumulative. This means seniors would have to have the 95% for this year only, and their attendance during the last three years wouldn’t be factored in. This would be the same for juniors, except they would be required to maintain the 95% for their junior and senior years, trickling down for three years for sophomores and all four years for incoming freshman.

Board member Lynn Grissom was concerned that going from 18 days down to 8.75 days was too drastic, especially if a student had a long illness.

Melanie Atwill, board member, suggested they go to 94% or 10 days.

Still not sure, Gannon’s motion failed due to a second.

After more discussion Grissom made a motion to require this year’s seniors to meet the 95% attendance requirement and asked that the SBDM council revisit the policy.

The second policy discussed in depth was the current drug policy and the possibility of implementing a random drug testing policy, which Supt. Bledsoe has been drafting since December. “I got down to a final draft,” he said. “Then I was informed by legal council that if we implement the random drug testing policy we can not put students who fail the test in AE (alternative education).” The law prohibits schools from changing a students placement from a normal education to an alternative setting because of a random search.

“They could still be restricted from extra curricular activities,”

Jackson Purchase ACA and Chattanooga AgCredit will become River Valley AgCredit on July 1, as part of a merger between the two associations.

The merger was approved by the stockholders of each association at a Special Stockholder’s Meeting that took place on May 18th, which paved the way for the U.S. Farm Credit Administration to grant final approval in June.

Jackson Purchase ACA includes 8 service centers that cover the 8 counties in the Purchase Area including Carlisle, Hickman, Fulton, Ballard, Calloway, Marshall, Graves, and McCracken.

Chattanooga AgCredit has 6 service centers that serves 12 counties including Marion, Sequatchie, Bledsoe, Hamilton,

The merger offers risk mitigation through diversification which increases economic capital and the ability to offer continued competitive rates.

No offices will be closed as part of the merger.

The new association will be led by Jackson Purchase ACA CEO Stan Brunston. Gary Keith, Chattanooga AgCredit CEO, will be the new association’s Chief Operating Officer.

River Valley AgCredit will remain a member-owned cooperative and part of the nationwide Farm Credit System, providing financing for agriculture and rural living since 1917.

Mama Dot’s legacy lives on through her family and friends

Family, church, community and sports were some of the things that shaped Dorothy “Mama Dot” Argo into the wonderful person that she was. Mama Dot passed away on June 23, 2012, at the age of 87, but her legacy will live on forever in the lives of her children, grandchildren, sisters and friends.

Those who knew her best always saw her smiling and remember how she loved to help people. That love for helping people carried over in the work that Mama Dot did over the years at the Hickman Garment Factory and then later as a greeter at Walmart and when she helped out at Strong Funeral Home.

“She was my second mother,” stated Ronald Strong, owner of Strong Funeral Home. “She worked for me from 1989 until just about two months ago. She had a phone in her house that was a line from the funeral home and she would answer it for us when we were away.” Strong’s connection with Mama Dot started way before she worked at the funeral home. “I worked with her at the garment factory,” he said. “She was my boss and working along side her was a special time.”

Strong loved her dearly and she was a very special person in his life. “I can’t say enough good things about her,” added Strong.

Mama Dot was also special to another co-worker of hers, Bro. Henry Callison. “Mama Dot touched all of our lives in a good way,” he said. “Her nickname suited her well, because she was like a mother to all.”

Bro. Callison felt it was a privilege to work with this beautiful lady. “I observed the Lord at work in her life as she would reach out to others with love, compassion and comfort,” continued Bro. Callison. “Mama Dot shared with others the love and comfort she had received from the Lord. I have found in life that all want to be loved and someone in their life that truly cares about them, so that was the reason that people would search out Mama Dot at the Strong Funeral Home

FCDC inmate, 76, dies of apparent natural causes

Charlotte Smith

On Friday morning, June 22, Floyd Green, Jr., from Rowan County, an inmate in the Fulton County Detention Center (FCDC) was transported to Parkway Regional Hospital in Fulton. He was examined in the emergency room and released later that day, according to Fulton County Jailer Ricky Parnell.

“He was suffering from a long-term illness,” added Jailer Parnell. “We completed paperwork that was sent off to the state to send him to the state penitentiary hospital.” He further explained that the state has the right to reject or accept inmates on a case-by-case basis and the state decided not to place him in the state hospital.

Green, 76, who had been in the FCDC for only two months, coming from another county, passed away on Wednesday, June 27 from apparent natural causes due to his illness.

Jailer Parnell also mentioned that it has been several years since someone has passed away while in the jail’s custody. It was a female inmate.

“We do now have more older inmates than we use to have statewide,” noted Jailer Parnell. As a result, this could lead to more deaths of inmates while incarcerated.

No water shortage yet, water leaks occur

After going 27 days with no rain, residents in Hickman received between 1 and 3 inches of rain, on Sunday, July 8. This was a welcome relief as the region has been declared as a Level 2 drought for Fulton County along with several other Kentucky counties, indicating severe drought conditions.

Currently, the City of Hickman is not in a watch or warning but Hickman Mayor David Lattus did express during Monday night’s Commission meeting the need for residents to be aware of the severity of the drought.

Three boil orders have been issued by the city as water main breaks have occurred. These water pipe breaks happen when the ground shrinks during prolonged dry spells. Public Works Director Mike Hartigan and his crew have been making repairs throughout the city as they occur. Commission Charles Choate added a couple of water leaks to his list during the July

Four Rivers Scholarship Program is growing by leaps and bounds

Charlotte Smith
Editor

"The dual credit program is growing by leaps and bounds," stated Dianne Owen. Owen is the program director for the Four Rivers Scholarship Program and she discussed the success and direction of the program founded by benefactors Robbie and Lisa Rudolph during the June 28 Fulton County School Board meeting.

"The program has completed its third year," she said. "We are starting to have students come out of the program." Owen described them as "completers". These are students who have accomplished a goal of becoming a college graduate, have obtained their certificate in a certain field, or have been placed in an internship.

"As an alumni of Fulton Independent Schools, Mr. Rudolph's vision, with the implementation of this program, was to bring students out of poverty," commented Owen. "The program began as a way to provide funding for scholarships for college, vocational, and technical training and to build economic development in the four rivers' region."

After the program began, Rudolph quickly realized that there were so many needs, it was expanded. "We took the program to another level by adding all grades," continued Owen. The expansion of the program opened doors to bring career readiness information to students at the middle school level and books to all students in grades K-4.

The Rudolphs' son Grant and his wife Camee are providing the books this year by donating the needed funds for the books at all four river county schools.

As the program grows, so does the amount of money dispensed in these four counties. "This year we provided $8,000 for dual credit funding at Fulton County," she noted. "The year before it was only $1,000." The foundation has funded $58,000 for the dual credit program over the last three years and will add another $50,000 this year due to the growth of dual credit programs in the four schools.

Overall the program has brought $45,000 into the Fulton County District during its first three years through its various programs and scholarships offered. "This year the program funding at Fulton County will be approximately $40,000, bringing the total funds in the district to a grand total of $85,000." The foundation has funded over $300,000 to the four schools in three years and is expected to fund another $175,000 to the program this year.

The increase in funding is needed because the amount of student participation has grown as well. Here in Fulton County 25 students benefited from scholarships this year. "There are 15 students returning," said Owen, "and we have 20 new applicants. Students do have to qualify for the program in order to be accepted." The foundation has funded over 320 students with college and technical scholarships, 340 students with dual credit courses, 1200 students with reading books and 120 juniors with ACT preparation materials as well as funding for career fairs, a counseling coach, certification tests, college textbooks, and housing and application fees.

"We are really looking at our program," Owen added. "We are getting more organized and have a better understanding of what we want to accomplish and what we expect from each district." Owen plans on presenting a Memorandum of Understanding to the school board at a future board meeting.

Some of the new things in the works include meetings with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ayers from Nashville, Tennessee who shared ideas on a college/career guidance counselor program. Also, a MSU Teacher Academy, "The Teacher Academy will pay for half of the tuition to teachers to earn certification to teach dual credit courses," she explained. "The teacher then agrees to teach the class, at no cost, for three years." Two teachers from Fulton County are participating this year. Mat Dillon and Mitchell Williamson will be earning their certifications in math.

"Mr. Rudolph wants to make sure we are following up with the students to make sure they continue with their college education," added Greg Curlin, a member of the Four Rivers Board of Directors, was also in attendance at the meeting. "When they succeed our community can grow."

Sports In Kentucky
For the Hickman Courier
By Bob Watkins

Touch ‘em all.
Hottest buzz around baseball at midsummer break?
Big market teams Phillies and Red Sox are all but dead.
The NL’s leading candidate for a Cy Young has a fastball that clocks somewhere around the President’s approval numbers, 48. But oh my, can R.A. Dickey butterfly hitters with his knuckleball.
Baseball’s best surprise is in Pittsburgh. Leading Cincinnati by a game and St. Louis by two-and-a-half in the NL Central, the Pirates are 11 games over .500 at mid-summer for first time since you were young, handsome and had lots of hair.
Hope for Pirate fans? This morsel of history – In October 1991, the World Series teams were Minnesota and Atlanta, Both had finished dead last the season before.

BASKETBALL?
Beyond meat market camps, no hoops in July, right? Wrong.
The London Olympics are three weeks away and that USA basketball coach Mike Krzyzewski finalized his 12-man team roster Saturday without college player of the year Anthony Davis, is at least puzzling.

Coach K’s credentials and success are impeccable, but leaving a shot block and rebounder and team-first man off the roster that includes egos the size of Charles Barkley’s rear-end, will merit a close watch on what happens in London.
KELLY COLEMAN ... KING AGAIN

weekend in Elizabethtown.

Quite a class.
Sidebar? Has to be King Kelly. He gets his day ... again.

He already has a plaque alongside Muhammad Ali, Paul Hornung, Steve Cauthen, Wes Unseld, PeeWee Reese, John Unitas and a host of other Kentucky sports legends in the prestigious Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame in Louisville.

The honor this week is another thumb in the eye for the KHSAA. When the governing body introduced its inaugural class to the Dawahare’s High School Sports Hall of Fame in 1988 the class of 26 included best of the best – minus one, Kelly Coleman.

Inexplicably, the KHSAA’s selection committee left off the pride of Wayland High School Wasps and the KHSAA’s first officially recognized Mr. Basketball in 1956;

Coleman earned his nickname but added enormously to state lore beyond borders of his home state. He had shattered or re-set scoring and rebound records from Wayland all the way to the Sweet 16. Some still stand, including crown jewel 4,337 points. A record not threatened in 56 years.

Justifiably wounded by being left off the first class list, the King vowed to never accept induction to the KHSAA Hall. The snub did more. It damaged KHSAA’s selection process credibility and earned it the ‘its all politics.’ label.

Ironies...

• Seven inductees to the KHSBHF Hall joining Coleman in E’town were included in the KHSAA’s first class in 1988.

• As all HOFs are destined to do, the E’town-based basketball hall of fame will inherit legitimate questions about its selectors and processes from critics of its own.

√ Left off its inaugural class: 1948 Brewers High School, only unbeaten team in Kentucky history, 36 straight wins and the state title.

√ The prince of Cuba and 1952 Cubs and Murray State legend Howard Crittenden.

√ College basketball Hall of Famer and NBA’s first Sixth Man, Frank Ramsey left out while teammate and fellow Hall of Famer Cliff Hagan goes in.

How will the KHSBHF avoid oversights and slights made by KHSAA? Executive director Rich Whorley declined to answer the question.

GEM GYMS in print

The book is Legacies of Kentucky Mountain Basketball. Photographed published by Harold Kelley of Glasgow its central theme is photographs of several long since closed small basketball gyms in eastern Kentucky.

Ones written about in this space as Gem Gyms.

Kelley said in an e-mail last week, “... (I) hope that folks who remember the glory days of high school basketball in Kentucky when the southeastern Kentucky mountain schools ruled the roost might be interested.”

Kelley’s book features more than 130 photos of gyms, schools, “(and) a few of the towns,” and includes season summaries for 1953-54, 1954-55, and 1955-56 for Regions 13, 14, and 15.”

WORTH REPEATING

Michael Kidd-Gilchrist officially signed a contract with Charlotte last week. A columnist in the city’s newspaper wrote about the impact the popular ex-Kentucky star could have on the Hornets: “... it wasn’t as if (the Hornets) quit. But they lacked a leader. Kidd-Gilchrist will be that leader. Yes, he will put up jump shots that entice innocent children to hide behind their parents. But if you watched him help push his Wildcats to the NCAA championship last season you can’t fathom him allowing his team to go quietly.”

Interesting prose. But “entice innocent children to hide behind their parents.”?

PARTING SHOT

Calling it a taboo subject, former Olympics 200 and 400 meter champion Michael Johnson weighed in anyway, his opinion on rising dominance by “Afro-Caribbean and Afro-American in athletics.”

“It’s impossible to think that being descended from slaves hasn’t left an imprint through the generations. ... I believe there is a superior gene in us.”

History repeats itself. Johnson’s remarks last week caused not a ripple with media nor condemnation from civil rights leaders is peculiar.

Those of us old enough to remember January 17, 1988 know it was a day when Jimmy ‘The Greek’ Snyder, after apologizing profusely, was fired by CBS Sports for making virtually the same observations.

Jimmy The Greek died eight years later. Friends said cause of death was a broken heart.

And so it goes.

games of the tournament, beating Wingo 13-1 in the opening round, followed by wins of 15-8 over Fancy Farm and the championship game win of 18-2 over Bardwell.

The tournament drew large crowds nightly to the games, and featured many highlights and big offensive numbers for the Wildcats.

Choate also pitched a complete game in the championship game against Bardwell, allowing four hits while striking out seven.

Leading the offensive attack for Hickman was Jarrett West, who contributed six hits and scored nine runs in the three wins, while Matthew Bodon collected six base hits and scored eight runs.

Jake Russell also turned in a good tournament performance, collecting seven hits, including two doubles and a 3-run home run in the championship game against Bardwell. Russell also scored seven times.

The Wildcats ended their summer league season with an (18-1) record and will now have seven players taking part in the State Babe Ruth All-Star game in Bowling Green from July 18-22.

Coaching the State All-Star team will be Hickman’s Charles Choate and Roger Mathis.

where she worked for many years. It was more than a job for her. It was a place of ministry, a place to dispense God’s love and grace to others in need. “She was an avid lover of sports,” added Judy, her daughter. “She loved the Kentucky Wildcats and the St. Louis Cardinals. She always watched them and she knew all their names.” Mama Dot was a big supporter of local sports in Fulton County. “She didn’t watch just her kids,” said Judy. “She watched them all.” She shared many good times together with her good friend Damon Hodge as they traveled from one sporting event to another. “One that comes to mind was when Fulton County was playing in the Class A tournament in Louisville several years ago,” remembered Hodge. “Dot took a wrong turn on the trip, so she just made a u-turn in the middle of the road. Two girls were riding with us and they got in the floorboard because there was a cop behind us. He just waved and we waved back. We arrived in Louisville safe and sound.” After receiving tickets to a Kentucky basketball game during another sporting event to watch Heather, Damon’s daughter, and Brad, Mama Dot’s grandson, take part in the Class A, Hodge remembers how they enjoyed seeing the win. She also remembers the next morning. “When Dot and I were having breakfast at the hotel, the Kentucky coach, Rick Pitino, asked if he could join us and, of course, we said yes!” “We have had so much fun together over the years and have traveled many miles on our trips together,” added Hodge. “I think

God for her love and friendship. I know she is having herself a great time in her new home!” Mama Dot’s devotion to her community didn’t end when the game was over. She also participated in all civic events. “She attended ice cream socials, chamber dinners, and read to the kids at the school,” added Judy. “All the kids would sit back and wait when someone came to read because they wanted Mama Dot to read to them.” “Mom was someone who lived everyday to the fullest. Her loving spirit has touched the lives of so many as it has mine, all our family. I know her presence will be greatly missed, but she will forever be with us all in our hearts,” Jimmy, her son, said. Continuing with her civic duties, Mama Dot would go above and beyond, when in her 80s she was still giving rides to people who needed to go to the doctor. “One day I asked her what she was doing,” said Jimmy. “And she said, ‘I am taking some old people to see the doctor. She was 85 at the time.’” Age wasn’t something Mama Dot let keep her down. Judy and Jimmy remember how much she loved to mow her yard on Myron Cory Drive. “If we heard it one time, we heard it a thousand times,” said Judy. “If I could just straddle that John Deere one more time.” The River Town Mission was also near and dear to Mama Dot. “She helped out there whenever she could,” said Judy. “Mama Dot was always very supportive with her prayers and encouragement that help to develop a strong and faith filled River Town Mission team,” said Mission board member Sherry Voorhees. “She attended the board meetings as much as her health would allow and was happy to be serving her beloved community. A true inspiration to us all and will be greatly missed.” She was busy and active in the community and at the Church of God, where she enjoyed going to homecoming services each July, but family was also a big part of who Mama Dot was. “Mama Dot and her sisters loved to sit on grandmother’s porch, just passing the time,” said Judy. “They have a sign nailed to the wall near the porch that says, ‘What

Different Results, Require Change

Michael A. Brown – Pastor Sassafras Ridge Baptist Church Each one of us at times would like areas of our life to be different. So very often people seek different results in their life, but have not changed anything in their life. If you don’t change things in your life, you will not get the desired results you want. This is a clear definition of insanity, doing the same thing over and over and over and expecting a different result (won’t happen). In order to get a different result, there has to be change. This reminds me of the story of Apostle Peter when Jesus entered into his boat and commanded him to launch out into the deep and on his command drop his nets. By doing this he caught more fish than his and his partner’s board could hold. I want you to understand that Apostle Peter was doing the same thing so many of us do in our lives. Seeking different results but not changing something. By doing this we miss out of so many blessings. Peter has grown comfortable in doing things the same the old way I am sure that you have heard this is the way we have done forever, why change it now. Well are you happy with the results you are getting, if not there must be a change. The Word of God tells us that Peter toiled all night (doing the same thing) and didn’t catch anything. Peter was doing the same thing he has always done and in the same way he has always done it. He was an experienced fisherman; fish was caught a night in shallow water. Not during the day in deep water. Jesus said: “Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.” Luke 5:4. If you are seeing a different result in areas of your life, do something different. Whatever the area(s) are, if you are not getting the results you require then change it.

Grass and field fires keep firefighters busy

Extreme drought conditions throughout the county could have contributed to four fires responded to by area firefighters. On Friday, July 6 the Hickman Volunteer Fire Department (HVFD) dispatched 8 firefighters to St. Rt. 2139 at 1:30 p.m. to extinguish a minor grass fire. They were on the scene for 17 minutes. At the same time the Cayce Fire Department (CFD) responded to a soybean field planted in a wheat field and the wheat caught fire on Plant Road in the Crutchfield community. A day later, July 7, the HVFD was called to a grownup hillside on Myron Cory Drive at 2:15 p.m. for approximately 30 minutes where 10 firefighters worked to extinguish a fire that temporarily closed Troy Avenue and Myron Cory Drive. The CFD responded to a field fire on KY 1128 on Monday, July 9.
